PACIFIC BLAST

US Sets Off 24th H-Test

WASHINGTON (CP)—A large nuclear device was detonated by the United States today in its current series of atmospheric tests near Christmas Island in the Pacific.

US To Reduce Troops In Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States probably will withdraw about 7,500 army men from Europe this summer, informed sources said today.

This would be the first reduction of U.S. strength there since the Berlin crisis military buildup last fall.

H-Protest Ketch Seized On Bid To Enter Test Zone

HONOLULU (AP)—The nuclear protest ketch Everyman II and its three-man pacifist crew were headed back to Honolulu today, in the care of the U.S. Coast Guard cutters.

The 23-foot ketch was seized by the U.S. government Friday night after it sailed about 10 miles into an expanded nuclear

Police Seek Maniac Sadist

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said today they are searching for a short, dark-haired maniac who has been assaulting little girls in Montreal's Cote des Neiges district.

The most recent case was reported last week when the parents of a nine-year-old girl returned home to find her lying on a blood-stained bed with a fractured jaw.

Algeria Turns Its Back On Long Horror Months

ALGIERS (Reuters)—Algeria today was turning its back on months of Moslem - European terrorism and preparing for a self-determination poll Sunday that is certain to bring independence from France.

The two big cities of Algiers and Oran were relatively quiet following the collapse of organized resistance by the European

Admin Chief Says Farewell

ALGIERS (AP)—The last French administrative chief for Algeria today bade an emotional farewell to 132 years of French colonial effort in the vast north African territory.

On the eve of a referendum bound to give Algeria independence, French High Commissioner Christian Fouchet also greeted the approaching birth of a new nation and pledged for co-operation between Moslems and Europeans.

"Live together in this magnificent land," Fouchet said in a radio address. "Live as equal and free men, freely and liberally aided by France."

Big Welcome Cheers JFK On Mexico State Visit

Mexico City (AP)—President Kennedy, heartened by the biggest public tribute ever paid him in a foreign capital, resumes talks today with Mexico's leaders on how to fortify the Americas against political and economic threats.

Kennedy, his reception here regarded as a big personal triumph, apparently is laying his cards on the table in frank conversations with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

There is every indication that the subject of Premier Fidel Castro's Cuba regime and its alliance with communism came up in their first round of talks Friday. It was bound to play a role in the discussions.

The enthusiastic public outpouring to greet the president—officials estimated 1,500,000 Mexicans massed to cheer him—could strengthen Kennedy's

Red Chinese Fleets Move To Position Near Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (Reuters)—Parts of two Communist Chinese fleets based on Manchuria and north China have moved south recently in co-ordination with the redeployment of ground troops along the Fukien coast opposite Nationalist Formosa, unofficial Nationalist reports said here today.

The nationalist defence ministry here could not confirm the reports.

Nationalist jet fighters continued today to patrol in strength over the Taiwan strait, in spite of low ceiling and occasional drizzle, to prevent any possible Communist sneak attacks on the Nationalist-held offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Pilots were said to have reported no concentration of ships and no marked increase of Communist activity.

The Communists Friday held no shells landed on the islands, a two-hour firing exercise with live ammunition in the direction of the Quemoy group, but the Nationalist official military news agency reported.

ECONOMY MINISTER BESIEGED IN OWN OFFICE BY WORKERS

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Minister of Economy Alvaro Alsogaray, besieged in his office by his own employees, appealed to military police for protection Friday.

Officials and workmen knocked at his door crying out for payment of salaries due since last month. Staff members returned to work after military police officers warned them they risked arrest.

Last Minute Bid Fails On Medicare Dispute

SASKATOON (CP)—A desperate, eleventh-hour attempt to solve the medical care crisis in Saskatchewan flopped early today.

As a result, the 925,000 citizens of this province may find themselves in a situation without precedent in North America.

Six hours of talks ended in failure when the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons and Premier Woodrow Lloyd indicated in separate statements they are still divided on the compulsory, prepaid, comprehensive insurance scheme.

The announcements were made only 2 1/2 hours before the legislation goes into effect. Many doctors have said they will discontinue private practices. About 240—one quarter of the college's membership—will offer an emergency service free of charge at hospitals strategically located in the province.

PROMISES CONCESSIONS At the same time, Premier Lloyd said his CCF government was willing to make a "concession" to the doctors.

To make "doubly certain" the doctors' interests would be protected, he said the government suggested an independent committee be set up to oversee the administration of the scheme.

Federal Gov't Austerity Blamed For Slow Up

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Hydro and Power Authority Friday suspended construction of a $15,000,000 power link from the Bridge River to Prince George, and blamed the federal government's program of austerity for the move.

At the same time B.C. Hydro chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum said in an interview the company's entire expansion program would be reviewed.

"We will have to see which projects are to go through and which ones will be delayed for a while," Dr. Shrum said. Details would be discussed at a directors' meeting next Wednesday.

The 230,000 kilowatt line was to have extended 255 miles from Bridge River, north of here through Williams Lake, Quesnel and on to Prince George in the central interior.

Community leaders in the city were looking to the line as a boost for secondary industry.

The halt came on the heels of an announcement Friday that Canadian Forest Products Limited would build a $51,000,000 pulp mill in the Prince George area. Its plans appeared to hinge on the proposed line from Bridge River.

Two Canadian Winners On Tamborine In 'Irish'

A 20-year-old girl and a 39-year-old railroad worker were the only two Canadians to win a top sweepstakes prize of $152,000 today when Tamborine II came in first in the Irish Derby.

Catharine Galloway, a clerk with McKinnon Industries in St. Catharines, Ont., was too excited to talk about her Irish sweepstakes win. So was Arthur Aitken of Springfield Park, Que.

Miss Galloway's ticket was purchased in the nom de plume of "Cathie Boy." Mr. Aitken just signed his name. "I can hardly believe it," said Mr. Aitken. "The boys at the shop knew I had a ticket on Tamborine and I've had a lot of kidding. I just don't know what to say."

Three Canadians had tickets worth $60,800—on the second-place Arctic Storm and three on Sebring, which came third. The third-place prize was worth $30,400.

With tickets on the second-place horse were: Di Bianco, Windsor, Ont., BZR 58439; Money to Fly the Coop, Hamilton, AMT 51170; Jubilee, Medicine Hat, Alta., AAP 04105. Third place-winners were: Dauteuil, Rosemont, Que., ACA 08906; Annie Gardiner, Hamilton, BXT 48094; Slipper, Ottawa, BZD 06787.

With only eight Canadians holding tickets on the top three horses, the total prize money coming to Canada on the Irish sweepstakes—which were held on the race for the first time—totalled a relatively low $577,600.

Welsh Girls Back Panzers

PEMBROKE, Wales (AP)—Welsh women shrieked and booed at demonstrators who marched through Pembroke today in protest against training of West German armored troops in Wales.

"We want the Panzers," the women shrieked.

The anti-German demonstrators were pelted with eggs during a rally prior to the march. Police, heavily reinforced in readiness for rival demonstrations, snatched five of the egg throwers. About 20 women participated in the counter-demonstration.

US Bomb Scare 'Demolished'

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Two teen-age boys tossed a disarmed, rusty aerial bomb into a pond near a North Syracuse motel and touched off a flurry of excitement today, state police reported. Earlier, troops said the bomb had fallen from a military aircraft.

Police said James Greer, 13, told them he and a companion, John Bradley, 16, threw the bomb into the small pond Friday night after the Bradley boy's mother told them to dispose of it. The bomb, 4 1/2 feet long and 10 inches in diameter, landed nose down.

The boys said they found the bomb about a year ago in a field near their homes.

Keith Clement, 12-year-old son of a motel owner, discovered the bomb in the water this morning and summoned his father, Oakley. Clement called state police and told them he thought he had heard a whistling sound and a thud about 2 a.m. today.

Boisterous U.S. 'Invasion'

TORONTO (CP)—The most boisterous band of Americans to enter Canada since the Fenian raids and the war of 1812 began flooding Toronto today.

About 10,000 persons—out of an eventual total of 100,000—began arriving for next week's Shrine convention.

To be precise, the occasion will be the 88th annual convention of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

The Royal York Hotel, used to football - final mobs, used the Grey Cup plan and removed all the furniture in the lobbies Wednesday.

There were 1,300 rooms reserved for Shriners.

Some of the traditional Shriner hijinks started Friday night.

A couple of colorful jeeps—equipped with whistles and manned by the St. Paul, Minn., members—cruised downtown shattering the air.

Also, plans were disclosed for the fanciest fireworks display ever seen in Toronto. Apart from skyrockets and exploders, the Shriners will touch off five elaborate pictorial displays during their CNE grandstand show Wednesday.

Angel of Independence monument in Mexico City, a trip to a housing project on the outskirts of the capital, a trip to Satellite City, a suburb of Mexico City, where the U.S. colony arranged a Fourth of July celebration in his honor, and a luncheon.

FOLLOWED AVIDLY

The impact of the visit was not confined to this capital of 5,500,000 people. Reports from around the nation of 30,000,000 indicated radio and television coverage of the spectacular first day of the visit was followed avidly.

UK Lifts A Drawbridge On 300-Year Experiment

Britain holds her immigration drawbridge Sunday and ends the era of uncontrolled entry from the Commonwealth. The flood of colored Commonwealth immigrants that began after the July 1 deadline was announced last April reached a peak during the last three days. More than 1,000 persons are scheduled to arrive Saturday on special flights from the Far East, Africa, the Mediterranean and the West Indies. Hundreds of others, particularly from Pakistan, have been arriving on scheduled air flights and channel boats. A group of Cypriots is reported dashing across France by train after ship was delayed in the Mediterranean.

RESTRICT ENTRY

After Sunday only those who hold work vouchers, have skills or are students will be able to pass freely into the mother country. The number of immigrants has doubled to 14,500 a month since 1960. Some 450,000 British subjects have settled in Britain from the Commonwealth in the last seven years. Most of these immigrants are poor and unskilled, and they will be the first to find themselves out of work if a slump comes.

At the same time Britain is hard-pressed to find accommodation for its own population let alone the newcomers. Housing have been aggravated in most urban areas. The flow into Britain began in earnest 10 years ago when the United States closed its door on West Indians. Since then the number of West Indians seeking to improve their standard of living by moving to the United Kingdom has jumped to 5,000 a month from 200 a year.

COLOR BAR DENIED

The government denies that the new act is in any way a color bar but argues that Britain simply cannot absorb any more people and maintain social and economic stability. Most Britons will watch the drawbridge go up with regret. It is part of the closing stages of a 300-year experiment with empire.

London would like to be the new Rome, welcoming all her far-flung sons as free and equal citizens. But the world has grown larger and the gap between the developed and underdeveloped nations wider. Britain has been forced, reluctantly, to examine her immigrants more closely and ensure they can look after themselves.

Goofball — concoctions in which drugs such as barbiturates and amphetamines are used to give the drinker a "kick" or "lift"—also were the subject of federal legislation last year. Parliament provided a penalty of up to 14 years in prison for illegal trafficking in such medicinal drugs. "The situation has improved steadily since then," a health department officer said. "We have a long way to go yet. But now we have more control over supplies. The availability of illicit supplies has definitely diminished since last fall."

"We have a long way to go yet. But now we have more control over supplies. The availability of illicit supplies has definitely diminished since last fall."

On the narcotics side of the picture, officials said statistics on the number of convictions and the length of prison terms imposed since last Sept. 14 are not yet available. Under the old law, maximum penalty for trafficking in narcotics was 14 years. In the new law the penalty is up to life in prison for trafficking—or even possession for the purpose of trafficking. Also created was the new offence of illegally importing narcotics—or, in a word, smuggling. The penalty on conviction is a maximum of life imprisonment and a minimum of seven years.

However, no charges have yet been laid under that new section. It was learned that the heroin in Canada enters through ports at Montreal, Halifax and Saint John, N.B. Little of it comes in through Vancouver, centre of the addict population.

'Let God Take Over' Says Doctor

CHICAGO (AP) — A doctor who has made some preparations for his own death said Thursday physicians should "step back and let God take over," instead of trying to prolong the lives of hopeless, suffering, dying patients.

Dr. Edward H. Rynearson, who said he has "ministered to many hundreds of patients now dead of cancer," told a panel session at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association.

"I address myself to the individual physician who is seeing an individual patient dying of cancer for which every conceivable avenue of treatment has been explored with total failure, and this patient moreover is suffering from excruciating pain and is pleading for release."

"There are too many instances, in my opinion, in which patients in such a situation are kept alive indefinitely by means of tubes inserted into their stomachs, or into their veins, or into their bladders, or into their rectums—and the whole sad scene thus created is encompassed within a cocoon of oxygen which is the next thing to a shroud."

Rynearson, professor of medicine at the Mayo Foundation and chairman of the section of endocrinology at Mayo Clinic, told a press conference that his views are his own, and that many doctors disagree with him.

Stock Market Breaks Out Of Slump for Top Showing

The stock market broke out in a sharp slump early this week to give its best performance in almost two months. As the week began it appeared the market was headed for another disastrous period. In the first few hours of trading Monday, the industrial index — a cross-section compiled from 20 leading issues — had dropped more than 11 points to 503.17, its lowest since December, 1960. A last-hour rally, however, regained more than seven points of the decline. Tuesday and Wednesday, industrials moved steadily if not spectacularly ahead, gaining about five index points each day. Then Thursday, all signs of buying hesitation vanished. That day's gain, 13.03, was one of the sharpest ever recorded — topped only by a jump of 13.87 last May 30.

TAKE BREATH

Friday, stocks took a pre-holiday breather, milling about in aimless fashion. On the week, industrials climbed more than 15 points to produce their first advance since the week the Canadian dollar was pegged in early May.

Trading volume was unimpressive, dropping below 2,000,000 shares in three of the five sessions. Buying was selective during the market's rise, being channelled primarily into industrial issues.

Nowhere was the industrial strength more apparent than in the banks group. Brokers said the recently prolonged slump had driven banks down more severely than most other issues, until their yields began to look attractive to investors.

Another apparent reason for their strength came from word that banks' prime interest rate and the rate of interest paid on savings will be increased next week.

All five banks — Montreal, Toronto-Dominion, Royal, Nova Scotia and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce — showed substantial gains, ranging from $1.25 in Toronto-Dominion to $3.50 in Commerce.

Although many issues among refining oils, pipelines and utilities touched their lowest prices of 1962 during the early weakness, most recovered. The story was much the same in other groups; plus signs far outnumbered minus signs.

Speculative and western oils traded less vigorously than a week ago, with few significant changes in price. Total volume at Toronto was 12,370,838 shares compared with 12,332,588 last week. Dollar value was $44,220,983 compared with $43,998,678.

On index at Toronto, industrials rose 18.71 to 533.27, base metals 6.15 at 184.28 and western oils 4.13 at 93.58. Golds dropped 4.25 to 96.22.

Volumes at Montreal: Industrials 841,676 shares compared with 813,440 last week; mines 1,802,753 shares compared with 1,615,577.

On index at Montreal: Banks gained 4.39 at 58.57, utilities 1.8 at 130.0, industrials 9.5 at 298.4, combined 6.9 at 242.2, papers 13.2 at 470.7 and golds 1.76 at 76.58.

BC INTERIOR

IWA And Forest Board Sign New Contract Pact

VANCOUVER (CP) — The International Woodworkers of America and Forest Industrial Relations have signed an agreement completing terms of settlement of a new contract ensuring industrial peace in the 27,000-man coast woods industry for two years, the union announced today.

The settlement was on the basis of recommendations made by industrial inquiry commissioner Dean G. Neil Perry of the University of British Columbia. The union and the operators had previously accepted his recommendations for a 16-cent-an-hour wage increase spread over two years. In working out other details the IWA and F. I. R., representing the operators, mutually agreed to discard a number of the Perry proposals. Notable among these was one dealing with rest periods and another dealing with proposed study of extended vacation periods for employees with service between 15 and 19 years.

It was agreed that workers with 20 years of service be given four weeks instead of three weeks vacation now enjoyed by workers with five or more years of service.

A union spokesman said the IWA finalized the agreement with the operators on the mandate given it by the membership referendum of June 15 when Perry wage proposals were accepted.

The deadline for disposing of the Rheinhafen assets, which have an annual turnover of more than 2,000,000,000 marks ($500,000,000), has been set for July 31 this year.

Krupp Given Extra Year

ZURICH (Reuters) — The Krupp industrial enterprise of West Germany has been given an extra year to sell its giant steel workers at Rheinhafen, a Swiss banking source said today.

The deadline for disposing of the Rheinhafen assets, which have an annual turnover of more than 2,000,000,000 marks ($500,000,000), has been set for July 31 this year.

Wins $3.5m Libel Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — John Henry Faulk won a verdict of $3,500,000 libel damages Thursday night for his claim that false pro-Communist labels ruined his broadcasting career.

Faulk sued the publication Aware, Inc.; Vincent Hartnett, one of its directors; and Laurence Johnson, operator of a chain of supermarkets in Syracuse, N.Y., who died Wednesday in a motel room here.

After deliberating only four hours, the jury awarded Faulk an aggregate of $1,000,000 compensatory damages against the three defendants, and punitive damages of $1,250,000 each from Aware and Hartnett. The judge had ruled that no punitive damages could be collected from Johnson's estate.

Faulk contended that a bulletin of Aware, published Feb. 10, 1956, falsely accused him of pro-Communist sympathies. He said Hartnett prepared the material and Johnson was instrumental in distributing it to broadcasting and advertising representatives.

Weatherman Says Weekend Promising

This is the weekend hundreds have waited for through a long dreary spring in this area. Weatherwise, the picture is promising but not ecstatic. Locally, sunny skies with odd clouds is the weathercast. Temperatures will be a comfortable 75 to 80 degrees. Winds will be southwest and gusting occasionally in the main valleys. The last batch of really warm weather will be slightly cooled by a surge of Pacific air which moved across most of British Columbia Friday night and is making its coolness felt. In most parts, temperatures will run five to 15 degrees cooler than Friday's somewhat sultry thermometer readings. Fairly extensive shower activity is forecast for northern British Columbia while down here, shower activity should be confined mainly to the ridges.

Churches Join In Services For Summer

The United Churches of Kelowna, First United and St. Paul's will join in shared worship services this summer. Morning worship in July and August will be at 9:30 a.m. in St. Paul's for both congregations and at 11 a.m. in First United Church for both congregations.

Supervision for pre-school children of parents attending worship will be provided at both churches. Residents and visitors should feel free to attend in summer holiday attire.

Rev. Elliott H. Birdsell will be in charge of services in both churches in July and Rev. Archie Birse in August.

YACHT CLUB BOAT TALK

By DUDLEY PRITCHARD
PERCY McCALLUM being away for a short while means that I have fallen heir to this column on Yacht Club doings in general.
THE FIRST ITEM that looms large at this writing is the barbecue at the club tonight. This should be a real "potlatch" as the club hosts other clubs in the Valley, north and south contingents are expected for an interesting evening. The regular Saturday dance will be held in conjunction with the barbecue.
ON SUNDAY, all who are able are invited to attend "en masse" the cruise to Peachland to support that community's regatta which takes place over the weekend. Any who are STILL able to navigate are invited to attend another barbecue at Summerland Yacht Club on Sunday evening.
It should be quite a weekend for Yacht Club members.
A word of caution in connection with the Peachland show.
There is primarily a sailing regatta so—if the boats are obvious as you approach—SLOW DOWN to a crawl. Aside from the fact that a vessel under sail has almost complete right-of-way authority—common courtesy would indicate "dead slow ahead."
These sailboats are not cream puffs, and many of them, particularly the jollyboats, can really get up and go, and if the breeze is right an exciting day is in store for the spectators.
One final word on moorings.
Please, but please, don't use string!
Sure, I know it's your boat—but the other fellow has one too.
And a granny knot is neither a half hitch or a bevyline and will not hold in a blow.
See you on the lake.

Three Okanagan students will be in the city for a tour July 11.

WEDNESDAY
Rotary Beach owners Mr. and Mrs. Ted Derickson said they play area to a tourist tent and trailer camp.

Florence McDougall of Westbank was sentenced to two years in jail after she pleaded guilty to charges of forgery. Albert

Wilson of Westbank received a one-year sentence for the same offence.

S. V. Hubble was sworn in as Rotary president in annual installation ceremonies.

Chamber of Commerce would like to see its present Mission Creek public beach extended with the help of the provincial government.

Calona Wines are protesting to the Alberta Liquor Control Board over unfair practices and asked support of local C. of C.

City crews volunteered to landscape the new civic theatre grounds in their spare time.

A special society has been formed to secure a junior off-shoot of UBC here according to advisory committee member Arthur Dave.

Former actress Joan Blair will visit Kelowna.

THURSDAY
Cherry picking will begin in the Kelowna district next week, according to B.C. Tree Fruits.

Painting in the Parks classes will begin here July 3.

Nicholas Sherstabitoff was sentenced to one year after being found guilty of Marshall Wells robbery.

Huge Regatta sign put up this week will attract eye from bridge.

Vancouver's $4,000 float will be in Regatta parade.

Red Cross swim classes begin July 3 in Peachland.

No Pressure Considered To Acquire Rotary Beach Says Mayor Parkinson

Mayor R. F. Parkinson told the Daily Courier today that the city is not out to bring pressure in an attempt to acquire Rotary Beach for public use.

"The city at no time had any thought of using federal or provincial pressure to get the beach for nothing."

The mayor's comments came as the result of two separate statements earlier this week in which both council and the property owners, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Derickson brought the controversial subject to a head.

The Dericksons told the Daily Courier they would go to work at once in turning the beach into a tent and trailer camp.

Mr. Derickson started working on the beach Thursday morning.

The Rotary Club of Kelowna abandoned the beach earlier this year after being unsuccessful in obtaining a lease and the City of Kelowna expressed their desire in taking the site on for public use.

NO ARGUMENT
"We certainly didn't want to argue with the Dericksons. They have a lease on the property from the Indian band and they are now in control of the property," said the mayor.

He went on that the city is not trying to force the Dericksons but that they are interested in getting financial assistance from the provincial department of recreation to keep the beach public and "pay yearly lease rental that has been asked by the Dericksons."

Crash On McCulloch Rd. Sends Two To Hospital

A car accident on the McCulloch Road last night sent two passengers to hospital for a check-up.

RCMP reported today that a car driven by Dennis Tremblay, Byrne Road, Kelowna, apparently ran off the road and rolled over once before righting itself. There was extensive damage.

Passengers in the vehicle, Marcia and Sheena Feworn of East Kelowna were taken to Kelowna General Hospital, checked for injuries and released.

The accident occurred about 7 p.m.

Police are investigating.

POLICE COURT
John St. Denis, Lakeview Heights, was fined $75 and costs after pleading guilty this morning to common assault a charge which resulted after a fracas Friday night at the Royal Canadian Legion.

Kelowna RCMP Cpl. Sam Hobbs today warned swimmers to beware of the boat fairway from Okanagan Lake bridge.

He cautioned swimmers not to be too intrepid and venture out in the path of boats coming or going at a high rate of speed along the lake front.

"A swimmer's head is hard to see particularly if there is a slight chop on the lake so I advise not to try any long distance swimming this weekend," said Cpl. Hobbs.

RCMP will have its patrol craft on the lake this weekend to watch for any infractions of the rules and to keep an eye on swimmers.

Cornerstone Ceremony Set Tomorrow

The cornerstone of the new Trinity Baptist Church at 1480 Vernon Road, will be laid tomorrow at 3 p.m. in a special service under the charge of Rev. E. H. Nikkel, pastor of the church.

Special guest minister, who will speak to the congregation, will be Rev. Joe Sonnenberg, secretary of the Pacific Baptist Conference. Rev. Sonnenberg is from Portland, Oregon.

The new building consists of a 130 by 40 Sunday school unit and a 42 by 62 auditorium. Pending construction of a chapel services will be conducted within the auditorium.

Completion of the first part of the overall project, is tentatively set for late July at a cost of $50,000 including the site.

Trinity Baptist Church was organized on Mar. 23, 1961, a branch of the Grace Baptist Church, with 68 charter members in the congregation. Since that time 13 new members have been added, bringing the total congregation membership to 81.

Eggs should be kept in a cool place away from strongly flavored foods, because they can absorb odors.

Diners tonight at the Royal Anne Hotel are in for a surprise.

Not only will they have their choice of from eight to 12 ounce best-grade steaks barbecued outdoors but they will be able to enjoy their meal to music.

Long an attraction at the hotel, the "sunken garden" adjacent to the hotel's main ballroom has taken on a new look.

Its grass surface is now a carpet of green cement; there are fat, sassy goldfish in the small rock garden pool, a huge brass, 20-stenks-at-a-time barbecue grill and rotisserie has been built in one corner and potted flowers adorn every other available nook.

Meets With Union

On Friday, the Industrial Labor Committee of Okanagan Federated Shippers Association met with a negotiating committee of the British Columbia Interior Fruit and Vegetable Union Local 1572, (CLC), with chairman J. C. Sherlock, counselling officer, Department of Labor.

James Currie of Penticton, business agent for Interior Fruit and Vegetable, was union spokesman.

Forestry Workers Plan Busy Holiday Weekend

Forest service crews aren't going to be spending a particularly restful Dominion Day weekend.

They'll be on the alert for the careless camper who through his negligence with cigarette or campfire may cause a lot of trouble and priceless damage.

With hot, dry weather the forecast, all tourists, travelers, fishermen and just ordinary Joes are asked to be careful about forest fires.

The incidence of fires in the Kelowna and district has been relatively low as compared to other parts of the province.

LOTS TO DO
In other Dominion Day news, this is the first long weekend of the summer and will undoubtedly bring in a horde of visitors, many of whom stopped in the city Friday night.

Tourist information is available at the City Park information booth and at the Chamber of Commerce office.

For the sports fan there is a three-day baseball tournament beginning today at Elk's Stadium: for the fishing fan, there's every facility available and for the beach boy or girl, the Aquatic Pool and surrounding beaches offer the best bathing and sunning available.

The residents, while enjoying their fun this weekend, could remember one thing SMILE it means a lot to a somebody from faraway places, and it's free.

Forest Fire Costs Zoom

VICTORIA (CP)—Fire fighting costs rose sharply during the last week but the general situation in British Columbia forests reflects a great improvement over last year.

Forest service officials reported Friday there were 201 new fires in B.C. during the week and the cost rose to $63,000 from $39,000.

Since the fire season opened May 1, there have been 546 fires reported in the province. However, at this stage a year ago there had been 1,548 fires costing a total of $342,650.

Caribbean Nights Group To Perform At Regatta

Caribbean Nights Revue, all new, fun-filled tropical island entertainment starring the toast of European capitals, Miss Jeni LeGon, with her company of dancers, singers and musicians will appear at the Regatta for two nights only on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 10 and 11.

The haunting Fiesta Steel Band, current Caribbean craze, will be introduced for the first time to local audiences.

This ingenious rhythmic combination is based upon the "ping pon", a tuned drum improvised from a heated gasoline tin, which, with the zumba and bongos drums and woodwind instruments, creates a unique and haunting type of music.

The Jeni LeGon Dancers, with Lili, Gloria and Toni, will demonstrate the hilarious dance contest, "The Limbo," as well as other typical dances of the Caribbean.

NEW DANCES
King Emmanuel, who has just returned from the Islands with a collection of new calypsos, Creole folk songs and Afro-Latin chants, will sing in several languages and native dialects. One of the first to popularize the infectious, witty Calypso ballads in the United States, King Emmanuel is known to millions in Europe and America for his personal appearance tours.

The Terra-Cottas, an Afro-Latin Combo furnish the musical accompaniment for the entire performance and play

PROMOTED

B. W. Chapman, Canadian Pacific District Freight Agent at Kelowna since 1949, has been promoted to District Freight Agent at Nelson, succeeding H. Whitley. Mr. Chapman spent 22 years in his native Vancouver, before his move to Vernon in 1947 and Kelowna in 1949.

Special Treat In Store At City Hotel

Diners tonight at the Royal Anne Hotel are in for a surprise.

Not only will they have their choice of from eight to 12 ounce best-grade steaks barbecued outdoors but they will be able to enjoy their meal to music.

Long an attraction at the hotel, the "sunken garden" adjacent to the hotel's main ballroom has taken on a new look.

Its grass surface is now a carpet of green cement; there are fat, sassy goldfish in the small rock garden pool, a huge brass, 20-stenks-at-a-time barbecue grill and rotisserie has been built in one corner and potted flowers adorn every other available nook.

DIGGING IN AT ROTARY BEACH

Owner Ted Derickson astride a bulldozer begins the first of work planned by him and his wife Margaret to clean

Canada's Birthday, 1962

When one thinks of Canada, as it is natural to do on Dominion Day, one is apt to think of mountains that just to look at take the breath away; of prairies fanning out beneath the curving sky to world's rim; of sea-weed and the smell of salt waves foaming on a rocky shore; of a patchwork quilt of lakes and trees and stones and rivers that pivots far below one's wheeling plane. And one can say that all these splendid things are Canada. But Canada is not a thing.

Or one may think of Kitimat, and rivers forced through mountains; of oil pumps, like black rocking-horses, nodding the wealth of half a billion years ago up through the fields; of hard spring wheat shimmering in the crisp autumn air and flung by combines on its complicated way across the world; of diamond drills thrust through the tough Pre-Cambrian shield; of sawmills that chew and grind whole forests into pulp and lumber and factories and homes for men to live in. One can think of these tremendous things and say that these are Canada. But these are things that Canada is doing, and Canada is bigger than the things it does.

Or one may think back through the years to when Jacques Cartier first sighted the rocky, disappointing coast of what he thought must surely be the "land that God gave Cain" and called it Canada; to Radisson and Grosseilliers and the Company of Adventurers of England trading into Hudson's Bay; to Frontenac and his courtly cavaliers from France; to the bush ranging coureur de bois and the voyageurs who followed the furlined trails west beyond the Red and who, long before Confederation, knew they were Canadians; to the mysterious and stubborn members of the Family Compact, about whom one read, perforce, in school, and poor old Sir Francis Bond Head, who made history by mistake, and fierce, red-headed William Lyon Mackenzie, who paved Lord Durham's way and helped set the stage on which the Fathers of Confederation stood. One can look back through the years and see these men, who found a continent and fertilized it with their hopes and fears and jealousies and greed, their pride and love, their courage and their blood; and one can say that this is Canada. But these were the men who sowed the seed from which the Canada we know has grown. The seed they planted outlived them.

A child can draw a map of Canada, etch in the squiggly coastlines and approximate the major lakes and rivers. But Canada is neither the map nor the things it represents. A child can catalogue its natural products, its raw materials and manufacturer goods, its exports and imports. But one will not find Canada itself in any list of capital and consumer goods.

It is in the man himself that one must look for Canada. There are as many Canadas as there have been and are and will be Canadians. For Canada is at once a heritage, a way of life, a dream. Shaped by geography but distinct from it, molded by the things men have done, but not those things themselves, Canada is too big to inventory, to be itemized and toted up in any neat financial statement. But it is not too big to fit quite nicely in an ordinary human heart. Which is convenient on Dominion Day. For when men and women turn their thoughts to Canada they have not very far to look; they carry Canada about with them.

Dominion Day, 1962, is a day for both humility and pride. We have a minority government at a time when the country, for the first time in almost two decades, is faced with a serious economic and financial problem. If we face the future, the temporary future at least, with some foreboding, we should perhaps take heart from the vision and courage of the Fathers of Confederation, who made our present status and progress possible. In the Canada of 1962 it requires some exercise of the imagination to recall the British North America of 1867. This country was forged in troubled times. If the menace and problems of those days seem now to us to be relatively slight, we should not forget that the Canadians of 1864-67 tackled a mighty task of nation building with tools and equipment of the horse-and-buggy age. Measure their facilities against their task, and it will be seen we are in relatively easy and fortunate circumstances.

Young people today see about them a powerful nation and find it hard to believe that it came into being because a few leaders saw the vision and refused to give it up, or that its persistence confounded those who gave it at best a few years before it broke up into independent fragments or sought sanctuary as a tier of states in the American Union. Unless they read history, the young people of today may suppose that the development of Canada was easy and inevitable. Not only on Dominion Day should we recall the dour and visionary George Brown, Macdonald, forced into the Confederation ranks through political expediency, Cartier, McGee, Tupper and Tilley and all the giants of the nineteenth century who blazed the trail of nationhood for all to follow.

Our present stature did not come by accident. It is the triumph of vision and faith. It is the fruit of character and enterprise, guided by a dream and magnanimity. Men and women possessing these gifts have been our greatest natural resource and men and women possessing them still are our greatest natural resource. On Canada's birthday it is well to do them homage.

In Passing

"Goes out for fish, lands woman."—Headline. It's news of the first water (pun accidental) when a fisherman gets hooked.

"Some husbands can be cured of grouching by a certain operation," says a surgeon. Any husband can be cured of grouching by one of a number of operations—as, for example, cutting his throat.

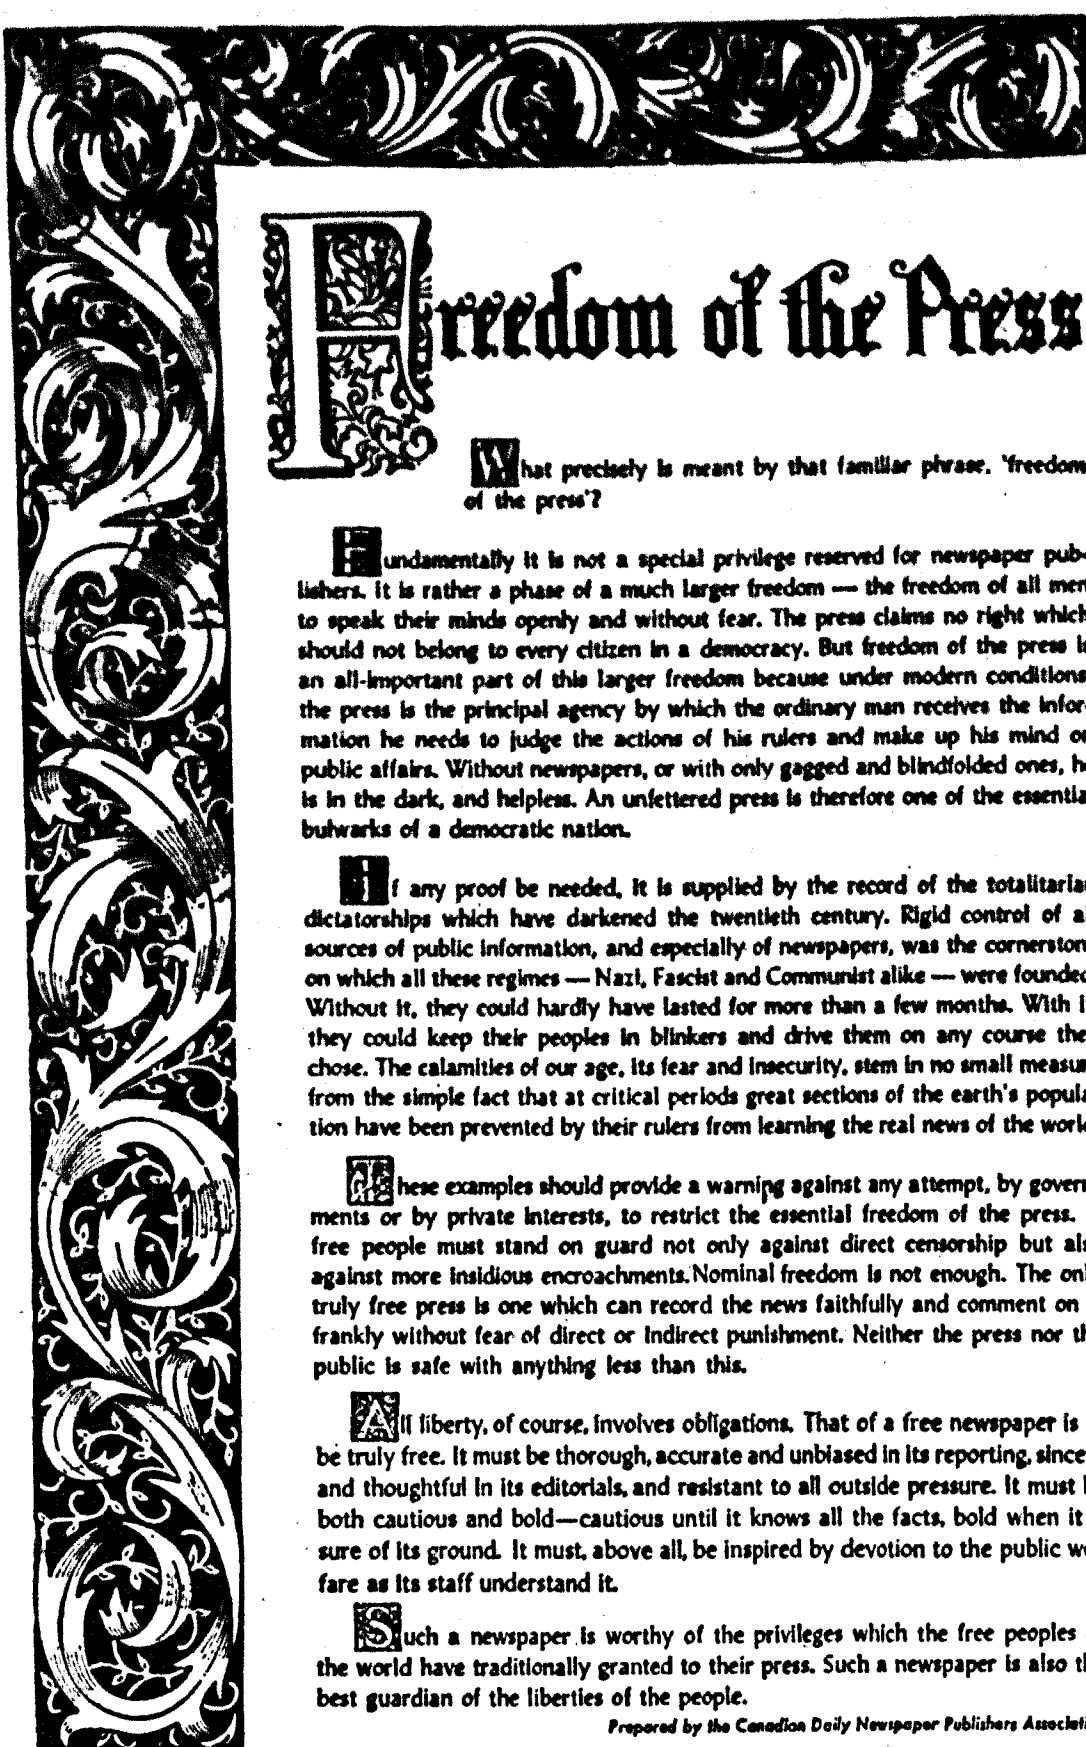

Overheard, woman speaking: "Will you please lick this stamp for me; I'm on a strict slimming diet."

"Excessive laughing is dangerous and may cause heart trouble," says a physician. Alas, it never so affects those who all but split their sides laughing at their own feeble wisecracks.

According to a conservative estimate, the average person is 747 times interested in food as in philosophy.

It is hoped that it isn't too early to wonder whatever became of beatniks.

Exchanging hard and honest work for money is a tough way to get not much of it.

Freedom of the Press

What precisely is meant by that familiar phrase, "freedom of the press"?

Fundamentally it is not a special privilege reserved for newspaper publishers. It is rather a phase of a much larger freedom—the freedom of all men to speak their minds openly and without fear. The press claims no right which should not belong to every citizen in a democracy. But freedom of the press is an all-important part of this larger freedom because under modern conditions, the press is the principal agency by which the ordinary man receives the information he needs to judge the actions of his rulers and make up his mind on public affairs. Without newspapers, or with only gagged and blindfolded ones, he is in the dark, and helpless. An unfettered press is therefore one of the essential bulwarks of a democratic nation.

If any proof be needed, it is supplied by the record of the totalitarian dictatorships which have darkened the twentieth century. Rigid control of all sources of public information, and especially of newspapers, was the cornerstone on which all these regimes—Nazis, Fascists and Communists alike—were founded. Without it, they could hardly have lasted for more than a few months. With it, they could keep their peoples in blinders and drive them on any course they chose. The calamities of our age, its fear and insecurity, stem in no small measure from the simple fact that at critical periods great sections of the earth's population have been prevented by their rulers from learning the real news of the world.

These examples should provide a warning against any attempt, by governments or by private interests, to restrict the essential freedom of the press. A free people must stand on guard not only against direct censorship but also against more insidious encroachments. Nominal freedom is not enough. The only truly free press is one which can record the news faithfully and comment on it frankly without fear of direct or indirect punishment. Neither the press nor the public is safe with anything less than this.

Liberty, of course, involves obligations. That of a free newspaper is to be truly free. It must be thorough, accurate and unbiased in its reporting, sincere and thoughtful in its editorials, and resistant to all outside pressure. It must be both cautious and bold—cautious until it knows all the facts, bold when it is sure of its ground. It must, above all, be inspired by devotion to the public welfare as its staff understand it.

Such a newspaper is worthy of the privileges which the free peoples of the world have traditionally granted to their press. Such a newspaper is also the best guardian of the liberties of the people.

Paeans of Praise Reduced During 25th Parliament

OTTAWA (CP)—The 25th Parliament elected June 18 is almost bound to be more lively than the 24th.

For one thing, there will be far fewer Conservative backbenchers to praise the government, no matter how deserving it might be. Such speeches usually are the duller fare of a Commons session.

After the 1958 election the Progressive Conservatives had 208 members in the 265-seat house. Now they have 116. The combined opposition elected to the last Parliament numbered only 57. Now it totals 148.

A minority government is usually more on its toes than one with a huge number of supporters. It must face more criticism daily and thus must be able to come up with the answers faster.

MORE WORRIED

Even government supporters tend to be critical—more critical—because they are more worried about the fortunes of the party.

There will be an element of suspense. A combined opposition vote against the government on any one issue can topple it and bring on another election. It remains to be seen whether the opposition parties can so agree.

Fireworks also can be expected in Commons committees, where membership of the parties is based on their respective strengths in the House itself.

This means the government will be outnumbered by the opposition in committees as well as in the Commons.

And the Liberal opposition still has a huge majority in the Senate, scene of some of the biggest political skirmishes in recent years.

The 25th Parliament will miss one friendly rivalry which brightened the Commons almost every day. This was the running exchange of barbed wit between Postmaster-General William Hamilton and Azellus Denis, Liberal MP for Montreal St. Denis. Mr. Denis was re-elected but Mr. Hamilton didn't make it.

WILL MISS MICHENER

Also missed will be the dry wit of Speaker Roland Michener, defeated in Toronto St. Paul's, who smoothed troubled waters on many occasions during the last Parliament.

But if there were losses, there have also been gains.

The election brought back to the Commons roles expert Stanley Knowles, NDP member for Winnipeg North Centre, and fiery Real Caouette, MP for Villeneuve and Social Credit's deputy leader.

Others returning after missing one parliament or more are:

Liberals: Allan J. MacEwen, Inverness-Richmond; Jean Boucher, Chateauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie; Gerard Legare, Rimouski; A. J. P. Cameron, Toronto High Park; Stanley Haidasz, Toronto Parkdale; James Byrne, Kootenay East; Arthur Leung, Vancouver South.

Social Credit: H. A. Olson, Medicine Hat; Bert Leboe, Carleton Place; A. B. Patterson, Fraser Valley.

NDP: Colin Cameron, Nanaimo-Cowichan Islands; Tom Barnett, Comox-Alberni.

The opposition is looking for great things from at least seven freshmen: Liberals Walter Gordon, Toronto-Davenport, a leading economist; John B. Stewart, Antigonish-Guysborough, a professor of political science, and Maurice Sauve, Iles-de-la-Madeleine, chief organizer of Premier Lesage's victorious election campaign in 1960; NDP members Barry Mather, New Westminster, a Vancouver Sun columnist, and Labor lawyers David Lewis, York South, and Andrew Brewin, Toronto Greenwood; and Social Credit's Guy Marcoux, Quebec—Montmorency, a medical doctor chosen as the party's whip.

Conservative backbenchers who never had a real chance to show their ability now will have full scope. Certainly, there will be plenty of opposition targets.

BIBLE BRIEF

Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price.—Isaiah 55:1.

How much richer and freer are the blessings of the gospel than the costly and unsatisfying attempts of man to obtain happiness from other sources.

LOOKING BACK

In Kelowna, 1912 An Air Show!

Dominion Day, 1912, the city of Kelowna was largely deserted. By boat, auto, rig or democrat, most of the citizens had gone to attend celebrations in other towns. Peticion drew a fair number of racing enthusiasts for the horse racing, in which a horse named Don E was the star attraction. The majority of the holiday crowd, however, headed for Armstrong. The steamer "Okanagan" provided transportation to Okanagan Landing, where a special train took the passengers to Armstrong. Another special train also came from Revelstoke, for the benefit of mainline folks, but a large number went by road.

The great attraction was outlined in an advertisement in the Courier of June 27th, which announced that the "first aeroplane flight in the interior" would take place. "Aviator Stark would fly a Wright biplane, equipped with a 75 hp, eight cylinder motor." This was the star feature that drew so many Kelowna folks northward that July 1st. There would be baseball, lacrosse, and races, and a "Grand Ball" in the evening, but it was the aeroplane flight that made this Dominion Day celebration unique!

The "Courier" reports that there was "strong support from the Grandstand" for Kelowna teams, and plenty of "young sports" wearing black and yellow ribbons. (Kelowna still retains the "black," but the lowly regarded "yellow" has been discarded for the more highly esteemed "gold").

Armstrong shops were all gaily decorated, and rows of small fir trees had been planted along the streets from the station to the sports grounds. First event of the day was the league baseball game between Enderby and Armstrong. League regulations were pretty elastic then, for both teams were spiked with "ringers." Jack Kincaid, Kelowna's catcher, played for Enderby, they having "lost their backstop" as the reporter put it. Armstrong had the Vernon pitcher, catcher and short stop, who "practically won the game for them," the report states. The home town won 4 to 1, Kincaid getting Enderby's only run. This concluded the morning events.

First afternoon event was a lacrosse game between Armstrong and Kelowna, which, you will be surprised to learn, featured many fights; some involving spectators too. Only names mentioned are "Maundrell of Armstrong got a slash on the head, and Holden (Kelowna), decorated the bench for a while." Kelowna led 4-2 at the third quarter, but Armstrong poured in three goals, to win 5-3 in the last quarter. "But for the brilliant work of G. Speer in goal the score would have been much larger," says the report. Now came the feature event of the day, the "aero-plane flight." The Courier report goes into great detail, and is very descriptive. The "youthful looking birdman," W. M. Stark of Vancouver, was the aviator, and while he was getting everything in order in his plane a huge crowd gathered around, but soon scattered when the "huge propellers, driven by the Curtis engine, revolved and forced up clouds of dust, with its terrific power." The engine forced the machine along the ground for 60 yards, and then "raising his front plane" the birdman gracefully left the earth and soared up, up, up into the sky.

Ecclesiastically the story continues, "like a butterfly he winged his way, the biplane rocking slightly with the occasional puff of wind. Heading for Vernon he rose up to a range of hills, and skimmed along the skyline, silhouetted between trees and cloudbanks. Gradually circling, he returned, flying lower, and soared right over the crowd, waving his hand as the people cheered his swift passage. The dropping of the engine lessened, and in a short time he was but a speck in the distance, finally going out of sight. Owing to wind he did not return to the grandstand, but landed in a meadow nearby."

It was a very successful flight, everybody agreed, but the "Courier" writer observed, "hardly as graceful as the monoplane, but seemed a very reliable method of navigating the air."

I wonder how many young men who watched that flight were destined to become airmen in the "Great War," just two years away? One young man, a member of the Kelowna baseball team was probably watching, and was to be the first to fly the Rockies in a plane. He was Ernie Hoy, brother of Ben Hoy, who recently revisited the city.

After the excitement subsided, a second ball game followed, but it must have been an anticlimax! Kelowna was trounced by Vernon, 13-6, though "Kelowna batters got quite a few hits off Vernon's high priced pitcher," (McCargill by name). The game ended in the seventh due to a downpour.

Many people remained for the dance—pardon me, the "Grand Ball," but most folks headed for home, with memories of the thrilling experience of viewing the first aeroplane flight in the interior!

In these days of jets, space flights and astronauts, the little biplane flight must seem very insignificant. In 1912, however, with people hardly out of the horse and buggy era, and just getting adjusted to the automobile, this business of flying was exciting stuff. Aviators who flew those first, flimsy, planes may have had very limited knowledge of aviation, but—brother, they had guts!

TODAY IN HISTORY

June 30, 1962 . . .

Belgium gave The Congo its independence two years ago today—in 1960—and the new republic was almost immediately plunged into violence. United Nations troops, including a contingent from Canada, were sent to the troubled African territory to help restore order.

1958 — Duff Roblin was sworn in as the first Conservative premier in Manitoba in 43 years.

1951—Pope Pius XII excommunicated all Hungarian Roman Catholics responsible for the arrest, trial and conviction of Archbishop Josef Grozecz, sentenced to 15 years for allegedly plotting overthrow of the Communist government.

NEW LIFE SAVING APPARATUS

Sub Officer Leonard Peacock, a fireman at Lynn, Norfolk, England, is shown demonstrating the prototype of an artificial respiration device he has invented. The apparatus is designed to avoid any risk of infection in the "mouth to mouth" method of artificial respiration. A clip is placed over the patient's nose and the mouthpiece strapped in place. Attached to the mouthpiece is a tube with an inhalation valve at one end and an outlet tube at the other. The operator places his thumb over the end of the outlet tube and blows through the inhalation valve to inflate the patient's lungs. To deflate, the operator removes his thumb from the outlet tube to allow the air to escape, the inhalation valve preventing any air passing back to the operator. The cycle is then repeated as many times as necessary.—(British Information Photo)

Lady Of The Lake Reception Greatly Enjoyed By Guests

Fragrant floral decorations transformed the Aqua Ballroom of the Kelowna Aquatic on Wednesday evening for the Lady-of-the-Lake reception sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Aquatic, which was attended by more than two hundred guests.

On the star shaped tea table a pyramid of roses, delphinium, sweet william and other early summer flowers were banked high around the central post of the ballroom and large baskets of similar flowers decorated the stage while deep red roses were scattered here and there along the white table cloths.

After Lady-in-Waiting, Vivian Dore, and Miss M. Crofton had taken their tickets at the door the guests were greeted by Mrs. Roy Wignall, president of the auxiliary, and Mrs. L. W. Preston, 2nd vice-president.

Mrs. H. J. Van Ackeren, first vice president of the auxiliary who acted as mistress of ceremonies then welcomed them to the first Lady-of-the-Lake reception sponsored by the auxiliary and called on Mayor R. F. Parkinson, who has been affectionately known as "Mr. Regatta" for many years to say a few words.

The Mayor thanked the guests for coming to the reception to meet the young contestants who, he averred, were becoming more and more attractive each year, and any three of whom he felt would make ambassadors Kelowna would be proud of. The Ladies' Auxiliary, he said, is the mainstay of both the Aquatic and the Regatta, without whose hard work during the past years there would probably be no Regatta. He concluded by thanking both the auxiliary and the contestants on behalf of the City Council.

Mrs. Van Ackeren then introduced young Rory O'Donnell, aged eight, a winner at the recent musical festival, who completely captivated the audience with his singing of several folk songs in his delightful boy's soprano.

Following Rory's singing Mrs. Van Acheren spoke a few words on the history of the Lady-of-the-Lake Pageant and introduced Mrs. R. C. Lucas, chairman of the Queen's Committee, who introduced the eight contestants listing the various talents and accomplishments of each one and expressed her pleasure in working with the girls who she said are most enthusiastic.

The eight candidates for 1962 are:

Elaine August, representing the Kiwanis Club, Gail Cook, Lions Club; Ruth Gillespie, Teen Town; Shirley Hartzel, Gyro Club; Ann Holland, Rotary Club; Ardith Jessop, Canadian Legion; Anne Patro, Rutland Chamber of Commerce; and Marilyn Wignall, Aquatic Auxiliary.

Candidate Ann Holland then expressed the girls appreciation of the reception and thanked the guests for the interest in the pageant they were showing by their attendance.

Miss Greta Rojem next entertained the guests with her delightful singing of "The Lotus Flower" by Schuman, and another lighter number entitled "Good Night Mr. Brown—I'm Out." Miss Rojem, who was also a prize winner at the musical festival, has a lovely clear lyric soprano voice and is a Kelowna girl about whom I expect we will hear quite a lot in future years.

Mrs. Van Ackeren then explained the purpose of the reception which was to give the public a chance of an intimate meeting with the candidates and to raise the money to buy identical outfits for the three winners to wear when travelling and representing Kelowna.

Mrs. Roy Wignall then concluded the program with a few words of thanks, and a delicious supper followed served by the contestants, the Queen's Committee, and members of the Auxiliary. Pouring tea and coffee were Mrs. H. M. Trueman, Mrs. L. Leathley, Mrs. M. N. Barwick, and Mrs. Royce Bassett all wives of Regatta directors. Mrs. Sidney Cook was convener of the reception, and it is certainly to be hoped that the Ladies Auxiliary will continue this delightful invocation and the reception will become an annual affair.

Lakeview Heights Social Scene Active During Summer Season

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Guidi accompanied Mr. Charlie Dalcol to Vancouver for the weekend, returning on Sunday with Mrs. Dalcol who had been visiting her daughter Mrs. L. Bettuzzi (nee Audrey Dalcol) and her infant grandson, for the past week.

Enjoying their first camping trip this year, were Mr. and Mrs. J. Fenton and family, accompanied by Mrs. Fenton's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Kross and their two children of Vancouver. The campers spent a pleasant weekend at Trepanier Creek.

A birthday cake in the shape of a five was the centre of attention at John Dooley's birthday tea party last Friday afternoon. Each of his young guests were given an individual cup-cake with their own candle to blow out, to add to the fun.

Enjoying the party were Connie Betuzzi, Sharon Greenwood, Shirley Foster, Carol and Bobby Brown, George Reed, Bert McCartney, John Bilsland and Mario Stevenson.

Mrs. G. Dalcol returned home on Friday evening from a visit at the home of her son Mr. Charlie Dalcol, in Glenmore.

Mrs. Muriel Creese of Summerland spent the weekend at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Creese.

Vacationing for two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Dooley, have been Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Carlson and family of Langley.

Work on the extension to the fire hall is almost complete and Fire Chief Bert Seguss is awaiting word of the arrival of the new fire truck, expected any day.

ANN LANDERS

Play Now Pay Later

Dear Ann Landers: Steady there, Girl. Don't let the ornery critters throw ya! Remember the senior citizen who accused you of not liking old people? She said she was over 70 and just loved living with her son and daughter-in-law. Well, that's ducky—but the central point is do THEY just love having HER?

I never cease to be amazed at all the fanfare in the newspapers when a parent lives to celebrate a 100th birthday. The President of the United States sends a telegram, the governor sends greetings, and there's usually a five-layer cake. And then, the last line of the newspaper report goes something like this: "Mrs. Hawmintosh has made her home with her daughter-in-law for the last 40 years."

I say the President should send the telegram to the daughter-in-law—especially if those last 40 years have been happy ones for the lady who has reached 100.—ADDED WORD

Dear Added Word: AMEN! Now may I add a word? AMEN!

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 17, mixed up, in love and desperate. The fellow is 18, handsome, swell build, plays the guitar and has the dreamiest eyes I've ever seen.

I need an honest answer so I'll give you the straight facts. I lost my head over this guy completely and now there's no turning back. He never takes me out on a real date, like to a movie or a dance or party. He is interested in only one thing.

Please don't lecture me. I'm a girl who listens to her heart instead of her head. If you could see him you'd understand. He's a combination of Sal Mineo and Cary Grant and talks like Adlai Stevenson. Please don't tell me to stop seeing him. It's impossible.—SANDBAGGED

Dear Sandbagged: I have no advice for a girl who says she listens to her heart instead of her head. The only approach to problems I know is through the head.

I can only tell you how these affairs usually wind up. The fellow will drop you when he gets bored and you have nothing more to give. You'll be ashamed and heartbroken. If you think you're Sandbagged NOW, Sister—just wait.

Dear Ann Landers: I married at 18. We had three children in five years. It seems I was always pregnant, or suffering from nervous exhaustion.

When the children were a little older I began to pay more attention to my husband but by that time it was too late.

Five months ago he told me he was in love with another woman and he wanted time to "think things over". I told him to think things over some place else. I let him know he could come see the children whenever he wished. He packed his clothes and moved to a hotel.

Six weeks later he started to come to the house every night. He's been wonderful to the children and very sweet to me. I know he'd like to come back home but he's ashamed to ask. I's ashamed he's had enough of the other woman because he's with us every night.

I love him dearly and want him back, but I have pride. Too. What shall I do? —TONGUE-TIED

Dear Woman: Untie your tongue, and in plain language ask him to come home for good. Your husband's nightly presence is solid testimony to his

Valley Couple Wed Quietly

The marriage of Mrs. Alice Marguerite Hardie of Kelowna to Mr. Ernest Elmer Campbell of Summerland took place quietly on Thursday at 5 p.m. at the residence of the Reverend D. M. Perley who officiated. Attending the couple as witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Annrew McInroy.

Social Notes From Westbank

WESTBANK — Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jennens left this week for Britain where they will spend the next couple of months holidaying.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Knelier has as recent guests the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Garth Carmichael, of Princeton, and their daughter Donna. Donna remained at Westbank with her uncle and aunt for a longer period returning to Princeton Thursday.

Confined to Kelowna General Hospital this week are Mrs. David Bash and Elvin Lowery.

The Lakeview Heights Recreation Commission are again sponsoring swimming lessons this year, beginning with registration day, Wednesday, July 4th at 10 a.m. with Mrs. Hugh McCartney in charge of arrangements.

Diane Springer of Westbank and Sherry Thornber are instructing and the lessons are planned for six days a week, alternating mornings and afternoons, at Kalmotir Park Beach. Pre-schoolers and school children are invited to take part in the course, scheduled for five weeks. Red Cross examinations will be held the first week in August. Please contact Mrs. McCartney for further details.

Work on the bench was started on Sunday with a beach-cleaning bee and the floats were put in the water in readiness for the lessons.

AROUND TOWN

Mrs. J. K. MacInnes of Hallfax is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. O'Donnell. Mrs. MacInnes expects to spend the summer in the valley, also visiting her son Dr. F. C. MacInnes of Summerland.

A number of friends gathered at the lakeshore home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hall, Cedar Creek, on Tuesday evening to honor Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Preston on their silver wedding anniversary. A highlight of the party was Piper Jim Arthur who serenaded the guests of honor with "Highland Wedding" and other old Scottish tunes played on his bagpipes.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Fitzgerald drove to Cache Creek on Friday to meet their daughter, Mrs. S. W. Rowles, and her baby son Tom, who will drive back to East Kelowna with them for a 10-day visit. Also meeting them at Cache Creek was their son Mr. John Fitz-Gerald of Vancouver who will return with them for the holiday weekend.

Miss Sharon Walrod and Mr. Ross Munro are driving up from Vancouver to spend the long weekend with Miss Walrod's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Walrod, Abbott St.

Mr. G. W. Edwards of Vancouver who has been visiting his daughters Mrs. H. R. Henderson and Mrs. Crete Shirreff left for his home at the Coast today.

Pastor H. Cooper of Loma Linda, California, was the guest of his son Pastor C. S. Cooper and family while he attended the recent graduation of his granddaughter Kathy. Pastor Cooper assists the blind by employing them on the printing of Braille books. Not only does he give the blind more books of travel and adventure to read, but at the same time he furnishes them with gainful employment.

Miss Sally Meikle, Mr. Alex Tai, Miss Bonnie Mann, Miss Brenda Thorpe, Miss Carol Reid and Mr. Barrie Mann all of Vancouver drove up on Friday to spend the long weekend as guests of Miss Meikle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Meikle.

OKANAGAN MISSION Mr. and Mrs. James Apsey, Knowles Road, travelled to New Westminster over the weekend to attend the graduation of their daughter, Bette, from the Training School of Radiological technologists. Miss Apsey's marriage to Mr. D. P. Williams takes place on Saturday at St. Andrew's Church.

The Okanagan Mission Girl Guides had their final meeting of the season with a campfire, weiner roast and sing-song at Barbara Donaldson's beach on Thursday evening.

Summer Skating School Makes Many New Friends In Kelowna

Kelowna's Summer Skating School will open for the first term of a "full school" on Tuesday, July 3rd.

This morning 125 young skaters arrived at the Pentlcton airport from Calgary, and others are arriving hourly from Prince George, Nelson, Victoria, Kamloops, Moose Jaw, Spokane, Quesnel and Vernon. Many of them returning for their second, third or fourth season at the school.

Members of the Summer Skating School teaching staff for 1962 are:

Miss Winnie Silverthorne of the Glencoe Club, Calgary; Miss Sharon Adams, of La Riviere from the Glencoe and Winter Clubs in Calgary; Miss Shirley Ingham of Spokane, former professional of the Kamloops Skating Club; Mrs. Joan Huber from Boness, Alberta, who teaches at Claresholme and Nanton; and Miss Elsie Busch of Kelowna, who is looking forward to teaching in her home town will arrive this weekend.

The Summer Skating School which started in a small way in Kelowna about five years ago, is now a well known annual event and is making many new friends for the city both in Canada and the Western United States. Many of the girls are accompanied by their parents and families who rent homes or apartments here for the summer months returning year after year, while others board in the well supervised Arena dormitories. This summer the school will be running to full capacity.

VERNON VIEWPOINTS

THE APATHY AT CITY HALL these days is unbelievable.

Monday night public meetings are of little more interest to the Vernon taxpayer than an archeological expedition into the Russian town of Minsk.

What we have here is a rubber-stamped administration; a meeting cut and dried; and the voice of dissent seldom heard. When aldermen say things were never better... our town's affairs are moving smoothly as never before, they could be right. But since most decisions affecting the taxpayer and the city are made in committees (press and public not allowed), the meeting Monday becomes meaningless.

It's acknowledged ground work is necessary before any council meeting, but what our council is doing is digging a basement, building a house, then going through the motions of asking for permission after the family moves in.

A few months ago, Mayor Cousins took the trouble to commend Ald. Leminski and Palmer for hosting press conferences to keep the public informed. He could take a feather from these two progressives' hats.

The chief magistrate of almost every city in Canada holds press conferences either prior to or after a public meeting. These are invaluable. While the Chamber of Commerce, service clubs, and tourist-minded citizens push Vernon for all it's worth, the mayor has yet to tell anyone (outside the conclave) what's going on in our own city hall.

Mayor Cousins receives an annual indemnity of $1,500, aldermen get paid $850 from city revenues. It's about time they began to earn it.

ONE-ARMED BANDITS are bad enough—parking meters to the uninformed—city fathers have now added to the dubious privilege of parking on our city streets.

Traffic officers have little sticks with white chalk affixed on the end to mark car tires. The purpose of course is to trap those who plug the meters with hard earned devaluated nickels and dimes from staying beyond the limit marked. Once caught, you're ticketed and the pokey... or pay the fine.

This is sneaky. Parking meters are unfortunately here to stay, but marking tires is just too much. It's not so much for our own mind you, but pity the poor tired traffic officers; tramping down hot Barnard Avenue looking for offenders, writing out tickets in the blazing sun, trekking up Coldstream Avenue, writing tickets, blazing sun, writing tickets, sore feet, blazing sun, no pith-helmets.

Now we've got them looking like the poor man's army officer with cast-off swagger sticks marking tires.

STATEMENT OF THE WEEK: "I limit myself to one drink a day—at the moment, I'm six weeks ahead."

Pioneer Drug Company Opens Store at Winfield

The oldest family name in B.C. pharmacy—that's Knowlton!

And fortunate enough to claim this name in a thriving community, is Winfield, where on July 3 the newest firm will be Knowlton's Drugs, situated in the new shopping centre there.

Bruce Knowlton, like his father before him, was one of Vancouver's best-known pharmacists for many years. Last month he sold out his prescription pharmacy business in the Hollyburn Medical Centre, West Vancouver, and moved to Winfield with his family.

Now Winfield, Okanagan Centre and Oyama, together with the surrounding area may call on Bruce Knowlton for top pharmacy service.

FORTUNATE WINDFALL

The Knowlton family have always liked the B.C. Interior and this liking turned into a practical thing when they moved here permanently, a fortunate windfall for the Okanagan, Winfield in particular.

Bruce Knowlton's wife, Dawn, will be at her husband's side and daughter Sally will enter Winfield Senior High School in the fall. Another daughter, Ann, is a teacher, having graduated from UBC this year. A son, David, is attending UBC and will take up mining survey following his graduation.

Mr. Knowlton recently retired as the vice-president of the B.C. Retail Merchant's Association. His experience will undoubtedly be called upon by the Winfield Chamber of Commerce and other businessmen's groups.

B.C. BRIEFS

PIONEER DIES
VANCOUVER (CP) — George Martin, pioneer Vancouver yachtsman and mountaineer who made the first recorded ascent of the Lions, the twin peaks which command Vancouver's northern skyline, has died at the age of 83. Mr. Martin was an authority on early Vancouver history.

FATAL FALL
VANCOUVER (CP) — An Indian woman aged about 25 fell to her death Friday from a third-floor window of an east-side hotel. Witnesses saw the woman sitting on the window ledge minutes before she plunged to the street. Police were unable to discover the woman's identity.

FRISER RISES
PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Warm weather caused a 24-hour rise of 8.4 inches Friday in the level of the Fraser river here, bringing the level to the 23.03 mark. The river has risen four feet during the last five days.

28-CENT RAISE
VANCOUVER (CP) — Members of the Tunnel and Rock Workers Union (CLC) have voted 70 per cent in favor of an increase which will give some 900 workers an increase of 28 cents in their hourly wage over a three-year period. Present hourly rates are from $2.30 to $2.96.

Vernon Dairy Hits Paywater

VERNON (CP) — A Vernon dairy which drilled for water to avoid increased water charges has hit pay dirt—or pay water. Officials of the Shuswap-Okanagan Dairy Industries Co-operative said Thursday their driller hit a gusher 352 feet down which is now supplying water at the rate of 300 gallons a minute.

Driller Frank Marks said the drill pipe apparently tapped an underground lake at least 50 feet deep and one of the biggest he knows of in B.C.

Temperatures of the water is a cool 48 degrees. It will be used for the dairy's cooling plant.

Armstrong Girl Weds Groom from Vancouver

ARMSTRONG (Correspondent)—Baskets of red and white peonies, and pews marked with turquoise bows, graced the First Regular Baptist Church in Armstrong June 16, for the wedding of Marion Edith Danallanko to Alfred Thomas Walker.

Rev. R. Thomas performed the double-ring ceremony for the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Danallanko, of Armstrong, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Walker, of Vancouver.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a beautiful gown of nylon organza and hand-clipped Chantilly lace. The bodice featured a Sabrina neckline and the Empire waistline gave a touch of simple elegance to the gown. Her chapel-length veil was held in place by a pearl crown. To complete her outfit the bride carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

The bride's attendants were her sister, Miss Betty Danallanko, as maid-of-honor, and her niece Miss Susan Danallanko as flower girl. The former was lovely in a simply-cut dress of turquoise organza over taffeta, featuring a bateau neckline, short sleeves, and a pleated cummerbund topping a full crinolined skirt. She wore a matching headpiece and carried a bouquet of yellow pom-pom daisies.

The flower girl wore a dress of turquoise organza over taffeta, with matching headpiece. Her bouquet was of yellow pom-pom daisies.

Best man was Harvey Gourlie of Kelowna, while Bob Beck and Gordon Danallanko, brother of the bride, acted as ushers.

Soloist Mrs. E. Danallanko of Penticton, sang O Perfect Love before the ceremony, and I'll Walk Beside You during the signing of the register. Pianist was Mrs. Joseph Goldenthal, of Prince George.

TIERED CAKE

The bride's mother chose a two-piece green sheath of lace over taffeta. She wore a white hat, accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a two-piece flower-brocade satin sheath with white hat and accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The reception was held at Zion United Church Hall which was decorated in turquoise and white streamers with white wedding bells.

The bride's table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom. The cake nestled in turquoise tulle net, flanked by silver holders with white candles.

About 90 guests attended the reception. Albert Haller, of Armstrong was master of ceremonies. W. Danal of Armstrong proposed the toast to the bride, while Harvey Gourlie toasted the two attendants. Serviteurs were: Misses Sharon Popowich, Shirley-Anne Danallanko, Linda Danallanko and Phyllis Wagner. During the reception, Rev. Thomas said the Wedding Prayer.

For their honeymoon to southern B.C. points and Vancouver, the bride donned an attractive light turquoise sheath dress with white accessories and white stole, and she wore a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

The newlyweds will make their home in Kelowna. Out-of-town guests were from Vernon, Kelowna, Penticton, Kamloops, Prince George, Vancouver, Red Deer, Alta., Meadow Lake, Sask. and New Westminster.

Legion Backs Traders Against Religious Sect

LUMBY (Correspondent)—Canadian Legion in Lumby has supported the Board of Trade here and officially expressed concern at Jehovah's Witnesses refusal to stand while the national anthem is played or salute the flag.

While the branch is now recessed for the summer, members are considering calling a special meeting to submit a resolution to the next zone meeting on the issue.

Parents of the sect are reported to have demanded their children not be asked to stand for the national anthem at school functions stating it is against their religious beliefs.

In other Lumby news: The Village Commission has taken a hard look at the latest provincial proposal and admitted to being "afraid." Through provincial grant, Lumby receives $13,472, which is equal to that collected by tax. If Victoria discontinues this grant as announced, commissioners say the village would be forced to revert back to unorganized territory, as government buildings tax would bring only $94.17.

Another alternative would be to double the municipal tax. But this was stated would be "too great a hardship on home owners."

LEND-A-HAND

The Lend-a-Hand Club has agreed to be responsible for the Lumby Queen's visit to the Kelowna Regatta, but said it could not take on any of her other out-of-town visits because most of its members are mothers of small children.

Lumby swimming pool will be in operation effective July 3 with Wendy Spragg of Armstrong instructor. Charge for children using the pool has been increased to $1 per month for swimming and $1 for season's lessons.

Concern was expressed that the federal government's tight money policy would increase the interest rate on the loan for installing sewerage, but the meeting was told as the agreement stands no inquiries could be made at this time.

Commencement on sewage system installation has been delayed because the water table is too high, but T. Hatch, engineer with Hadden, Davis and Brown is making the final surveys.

Josiah became king of Judah when he was eight. The first good king for many years. He began his reforms by repairing the temple; there the high priest discovered the "book of the law," long missing and forgotten.
—II Kings 22:1-8

When it was read to Josiah, he "rent his clothes," for he saw how grievously his people had sinned, departing from God's laws. A prophetic voice told him that Jerusalem would still be punished, but not in this time.
—II Kings 22:11-20

The book was then read to the people, and Josiah proceeded to destroy all the pagan idols and altars of Judah and killed the preachers of corruption. For the first time in many years, Passover was celebrated.

Big Merger Of Lutherans

DETROIT (AP)—The largest merger in the history of Lutheranism in America took place here today. Four Lutheran denominations joined forces to become one.

"An epochal, long prayed-for event," said Rev. Franklin Clark Fry of New York.

Thousands of Lutherans, including 2,500 delegates and officials, were on hand for the occasion in Detroit's giant Cobo Hall.

The new Lutheran Church of America has 3,500,000 members, the sixth largest Protestant body in the United States.

The merging denominations are the 2,500,000-member United Lutheran Church of America, the 630,000-member Augustana Lutheran Church, of Swedish descent; the 35,500-member Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church, and the 25,000-member American Evangelical Lutheran Church, of Danish origin.

A huge communion service marked the occasion.

Rev. Dr. Paul Empele, chief executive of the National Lutheran Council.

"It's status has always been in dispute and in recent decades is undergoing changes in many subtle and unrecognized ways."

However, even the immediate impact of the new ruling was widespread.

FEDERAL PROJECTS

KAMLOOPS (CP) — President Bud Aubrey of Kamloop Progressive Conservative Association said Friday it is unlikely that either the Royal Inland Hospital building program or construction of a new post office here will be delayed by the federal government's public works cutback. He said a definite decision is expected shortly.

Religion And Government Run Stormy Course In US

The sensitive, sometimes stormy course of relationships between religion and government in the United States seems in for some far-reaching adjustments.

The pivotal issue of religion in the schools.

For the first half century of U.S. life, most elementary and secondary schools, as well as institutions of higher learning, were run by the churches, predominantly Protestant.

Prayers, Bible study and other religious practices were a common fixture.

With the vast majority of youngsters now educated in community public schools, the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that it was unconstitutional to open classes with a brief, 22-word prayer, designed to be non-sectarian.

It was the first such decision of its kind.

It cast a long legal cloud, not only over practices of about half the country's 117,855 public schools which regularly or occasionally have classroom prayer, but over an array of other school religious observances.

Voluntary changes, or a spate of lawsuits, appeared likely in many areas.

TEST CASES

Two cases, of similarly broad-scale import, already are on the way to a test by the high court.

Pastor And Wife To Sail MacKenzie

At the lakeshore of Delmer, Reisinger at Woods Lake, the Arctic Arrow was launched and dedicated for service this week. The 15-foot cabin cruiser powered by a 40 h.p. motor was built by Pastor C. S. Cooper. Boat building is his hobby. He usually constructs one each winter.

On July 1 Pastor and Mrs. Cooper will load their boat on a trailer hitched to their station wagon and head for the town of Hay River on the Great Slave Lake.

There they will leave car and board the Arctic Arrow proceeding up the lake to the source of the MacKenzie River. They plan to navigate the river this summer to the Arctic. From there they will fly back to Hay River to their car.

The Coopers are lovers of the Northland. His book "Wilderness Parish" was written about the Caribou country and beyond.

After Sept. 1, the Coopers will be stationed at Terrace where he will be the pastor of the Seventh-Day Adventist churches in that area.

c'mon... put it over the plate

You are witnessing one of the frustrations in Ted's life. Like his namesake, the Red Sox slugger, Ted likes to tag a good fast ball and send it over the fence. But, today, our batting-practice pitcher just can't seem to find the plate.

Another frustration in Ted's life will occur next Sunday morning. Like every American youngster Ted needs religious training. But Ted's parents, who should be offering him opportunity and encouragement in spiritual growth, can't seem to find the Church.

Our children deserve the full spiritual opportunity which our free heritage has preserved for them. Today it is their turn to develop the power with which God endowed them. And our assignment, like the batting-practice pitcher's, is to offer them our best... and not lost control.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

I Din't Know Claims Ex-Nazi

FRANKFURT, West Germany (Reuters)—A former SS sergeant who worked in Adolf Eichmann's Jewish department claimed in court Friday he did not know that Jews were being gassed in Nazi concentration camps.

Leovold Richter, who faces charges connected with the murder of Jews, said he and other members of Eichmann's staff had regarded the gassing stories as "hostile atrocity propaganda."

Richter, wartime inspector of Hungarian internment camps, gave evidence at the trial of Otto Hunsche, 31, former senior official in Eichmann's department who is charged with aiding in the murder of about 1,200 Hungarian Jews in 1944. The case continues.

Australian 1st Deportee

LONDON (AP) — Home Secretary R. A. Butler Friday ordered the first deportation of a Commonwealth citizen under the new Commonwealth Immigration law.

He ruled Anthony Sargent, 24, an Australian convicted at Haleswood, Essex, June 12 of stealing a bicycle, must leave. Sargent was discharged by the court with a recommendation that he be deported.

The deportation section of the immigration law went into effect May 31. Sargent arrived May 24 and committed the offence nine days later.

Butler said he had taken into account a previous criminal record of Sargent.

Workmen and Theatricals Hard at It in Dawson City

DAWSON CITY, Y.T. (CP)—The activity during the eight-workmen and a theatrical company took turns in the rebuilt Palace Grand Theatre here, both aiming for a Sunday deadline and the official start of Dawson City's first Gold Rush Festival.

The workers are putting finishing touches to the decor of the 501-seat theatre while the theatrical group is going through its final rehearsals of a musical specially written for the festival.

The northern affairs department has rebuilt the Palace Grand at a cost of $200,000 and it will be the centre of much of the world's fair at Seattle and

More than 20,000 tourists, the majority of them Americans, are expected to mosh their way here by car, boat, bus and plane.

Alan Innes-Taylor, one-time member of the famed Northwest Mounted Police and now general manager of the festival, said today about 25,000 persons have written, seeking information about the festival and saying they intend to travel here.

Financing the festival was another matter. A drive for $125,000 fell short of its target and another for $75,000 to $100,000 will have to be launched next year.

Mr. Innes-Taylor said the Dawson City Gold Rush Festival Foundation expected to have a deficit the first year.

But the poor response for funds forced a cut in spending all along the line, he said. "We can't kid anybody that conditions here will be like the more highly commercialized tourist attractions of the world."

Britons Tell Of Captivity Under Red Pathet Lao Troops

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Three Britons, freed after a month as captives of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, told reporters Friday they were dragged from village to village with ropes around their necks "like dogs or cattle."

A fourth Briton who shared in the experience was not at the press conference.

But toward the end of their captivity, said Mervyn Brown, British Embassy counsellor, "we were tying and untying ourselves and putting the end of the ropes in our pockets without having someone pull us."

Aside from being tied up, Brown said, all four were given enough food and were well treated, but had given up hope of being freed.

Brown and Maj. Clark Leapheart, who did not attend the press conference, set out from Vientiane in late May to try to get the release of two British doctors, Colin Prentice and Anthony Bryceson. The doctors had been captured May 26 while visiting a string of clinics in southern Laos.

All four were set free Thursday at Ban Tha Theng, in the south, and were picked up by helicopter.

Brown and Leapheart carried a letter from Prince Souphanouvong, chief of the Pathet Lao, instructing the local Pathet Lao chief to free the two doctors. But Souphanouvong's instructions were not honored until after the new coalition government was installed last Saturday.

"But this is the very product that the festival hopes will appear to visitors. It will help them capture the romance and adventure that were part of Dawson City after the rush of '96 when this was a city of 35,000 people and more than $100,000,000 in gold was worked from claims."

Six nights a week at the Palace Grand a cast headed by Bert Lahr will stage the musical Foxy, an adaptation by Ian Hunter and Ring Lardner Jr., of Ben Jonson's Volpone. The music and lyrics were written by Robert Emmett Dolan and Johnny Mercer.

The theatre has been sold out for the first week and more than 60 per cent of the seats have been sold so far for the remaining shows.

18th ANNIVERSARY

It's Our Pleasure To Thank You For The Valued Patronage You Have Given Us Over The Past 18 Years!

MR. C. HENDERSON
Owner-Manager

Today marks another milestone in the history of Henderson's Cleaners Ltd. as we celebrate our 18th Anniversary.

It was 18 years ago today that Mr. Henderson purchased Maple Leaf Cleaners and started operations with one other employee. By giving the finest of service and satisfaction, the business prospered rapidly and soon larger premises, more employees and equipment were required to handle the large cleaning volume developed.

In 1950, Henderson's Cleaners moved to their present location at 1555 Ellis St. and further established the reputation as Kelowna's leading dry cleaners and laundry.

Today, Henderson's Cleaners have a staff of 25 trained experts, 2 cars, 3 trucks and thousands of dollars invested in dry cleaning and laundry equipment to render the services that we feel you wish to enjoy.

Our business has been built on families who return to us time after time... their recommendations to friends and relatives is invaluable to us. We would like to thank you for your valued patronage that has made our business such a success. You can be assured that Henderson's Cleaners will do the most possible to guarantee you satisfaction and give you the finest dry cleaning and laundry service available.

We Make These Quality Checks On Every Garment That Goes Through Our Dry Cleaning Plant!

Careful Examination
First your garment is carefully classified as to type and fabric. Unusual soils or stains are noted for special handling.

Sanitone Dry Cleaning
In a gentle but thorough dry cleaning, all deep-down soil is removed reviving color and fabric pattern, restoring like-new drapes and feel to garment.

Skilled Spotting
Our skilled spotter analyzes any soil which might remain, tests the fabrics, then uses special solvents to remove remaining soils.

Double Assurance
Our experience and that of the manufacturer of Sanitone whose engineers consult with us periodically, stand behind our claims. We invite you to compare and see the difference for yourself.

"Sanitone Service Costs No More and It's Guaranteed To Be The Best Dry Cleaning You've Ever Seen!"

Expert Pressing
This adds the finishing touch to a perfect job. It takes time and skill to do a good job. There are no short cuts to quality.

Thorough Inspection
A careful, final inspection makes sure no spot or soil has escaped previous attention... otherwise back it goes.

Repairs
A button missing? A lining ripped, a seam open? Minor repairs are made free of charge, major alterations at reasonable cost.

Careful Checking
Is every piece of the order together? Is every belt and ornament in the right place? No spots overlooked? Our checkers are trained to make sure everything possible has been done.

Redcaps Clip Enderby To Win SOK'M Finals

The Rutland Redcaps defeated the Enderby Merchants at Centennial Park Thursday evening, in a convincing 6-1 victory, to sweep the finals two straight. Redcaps won the first game at Enderby on Sunday, 9-7.

In the five years that Rutland has had a team in the Shuswap, Okanagan and Monashee League, (to give the SOK'M League its full title), this is the first time that the Redcaps have won the cup.

President Percy Main, of Vernon, was at the game, and presented the trophy to Verne Kroschinsky, the team captain, and congratulated the boys on their fine playing.

Losing out in the finals was a tough blow for the Enderby squad, as they had gone through the season up to that point without a defeat, but they took it in good part and came over to shake hands with the winners and congratulate them, in a true sporting spirit.

Rutland took the lead in the first inning, Don Kroschinsky hitting a double, then scoring on an error. His brother Verne, who got on with the error, also scored on two successive errors by the jittery Enderby infield. From then on Rutland was never headed, Enderby getting their lone score in the second, Abel hitting safely, going to second on Hawry's walk, and scoring on a hit by Robinson. They threatened again in the fourth, when two successive hits put Czepl and Almas on base, but Ken Hokazono fanned three in a row to end the threat. From then on Enderby only got two men on base in the remaining five innings, both on walks.

Rutland steadily increased their lead, Don Kroschinsky, Rutland's first baseman, having a particularly good night, with a single, a double and a triple in four trips to the plate. Well placed bunts helped to add to the Redcaps score, also, and rattle the Enderby infield. Both chuckers had impressive

Coast, Okanagan Teams Will Battle For $1,200

High-flying baseball action is on tap this weekend when eight hard-hitting teams converge on Elks' Stadium for the Kelowna Labatts $1,200 tournament.

Three Vancouver clubs will join five Okanagan Mainline Baseball League squads in a three-day battle for first prize of $500, second prize of $300 or third and fourth prizes of $150 each.

Even losing clubs will benefit by a consolation prize of $25 apiece.

Well-known teams such as Vancouver Dufferins, Vancouver Longshoremans and Vancouver Kingsway Hotelmen will meet up with teams from Kelowna.

Bruce Kidd Sets Another Track Record

TORONTO (CP)—Bruce Kidd broke the Canadian junior two-mile record Friday competing in the Ontario area class track and field championships.

Running for East York Track Club, Kidd broke his old record of 9:18.6 with a 8:52.3. He was still far from his 8:46.4 Canadian senior record.

Kidd, who admitted he felt sluggish before the race, beat out Russ Evans of Hamilton Olympic Club.

A second record breaker was Gary Kenny, a six-foot, two-inch, 198 pounds, 15 year-old who broke the Canadian discus record in the mid-level class with 172 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

For Kenny, representing the Don Mills Y. Track Club, the meet was his first. More than 500 competitors representing 737 track clubs entered the two-day meet.

WEEKEND FIGHTS

Los Angeles — Tony Perez, 134 1/2, Mexico, knocked out Pulga Serrano, 134, Los Angeles, 6.

AL-NL ROUNDUP

Big Bat of Lu Clinton Gives Red Sox 9-3 Win Over Kansas

It would be hard to convince the Kansas City As that Lu Clinton isn't the toughest .125 hitter in baseball.

Clinton, a Boston bench-warmer, has managed only eight base hits in 64 times at bat this season, but it's safe to say he's getting the maximum mileage out of them.

Clinton, an outfielder, plays for the Red Sox only when Carroll Hardy—a former sub for Ted Williams—can't. Hardy was ill Friday night so Clinton and his .07 batting average were inserted in the line-up against the As.

He hit two home runs, including his second grand slam of the season, drove in six runs and led the struggling Red Sox to a 9-3 victory. It pulled the Sox within two percentage points of the Athletics and cut the gap between the first and ninth-place American League teams to only eight games.

New York Yankees clipped Los Angeles Angels 6-3 and moved within a half-game of the leading Cleveland Indians, press last year, powered San Francisco Giants back into first wire and Detroit Tigers shut out Baltimore Orioles 1-0 on three hits and Washington Senators beat Minnesota Twins 6-3 in 10 innings on Chuck Hinton's home run.

BREAKS 2-1 GAME
Clinton hit his first homer of the evening high into the screen atop the left field wall in the sixth after Frank Malzone tripled and Pete Runnels and Jim Pagliaroni drew intentional bases on balls. That broke up a 2-1 game. He homered again in the eighth, with Runnels again on base, giving him 13 runs batted in on his eight hits this season.

The lusty belting made it easy for Billy Monbouquette (7-7) to pick up the victory on a five-hitter.

Yankee ace left-hander Whitey Ford found his tender shoulder well healed and threw a solid four-hitter against the Angels. Ford's first complete game of the season. It kept unblemished the New York record of having never lost to the Angels in Yankee Stadium and pushed the Yanks one game ahead of the surprising Angels.

Oh, that Ed Bailey! The 31-year-old catcher, who found himself dislodged from Cincinnati's pennant-bound position last year, powered San Francisco Giants back into first place in the National League Friday night by hitting his third clutch home run in four days for a 4-3 victory over Philadelphia Phillies.

Bailey's shot leading off the 12th inning was No. 12 for the Giants' receiver and pushed the San Franciscans a half-game overpowering. Curt Simmons' seven-hit job gave St. Louis Louis Cardinals a 5-0 victory over Pittsburgh and a tie for third place with the Pirates. Jim O'Toole's four-hitter for Cincinnati beat Houston 4-0 and four-hit hurling of Bob Buhl Chicago Cubs blanked Milwaukee and Don Elston.

Bailey, acquired in the trade that sent second baseman Don Blasinghame, catcher Bob Schmidt and pitcher Sherman Jones to the Reds, won it for the Giants with a blow off reliever Jack Baldschun (3-5) and ended a stalemate that had existed since the fifth inning. At that point, the Giants had tied the Dennis Bennett to Bob Nieman had forced in a run. Billy O'Dell (9-6) went the distance for the victory, allowing eight hits and striking out 12.

CHARLIE RAYNER NAMED NEW EDMONTON FLYER HOCKEY COACH

EDMONTON (CP) — A National Hockey League goalie for 13 years, 41-year-old Charlie Rayner today was named general manager and coach of the Western Hockey League Edmonton Flyers.

The announcement was made by Al Anderson, manager of the Edmonton Exhibition Association. He said Rayner will be in Edmonton July 5 with Sid Abel, general manager of the Detroit Red Wings and Jimmy Skinner, chief scout for the Detroit hockey system.

Rayner succeeds Bud Poile, who headed the Flyers as Detroit's top farm club for a decade and guided the Flyers to Edmonton's third Western League championship this spring.

Rayner, a native of Saskatoon, joined the NHL in 1940 with the old New York Americans and finished his career with New York Rangers in 1953.

During his NHL days he was a Hart trophy winner once and was named to the NHL second all-star team four times.

He played with Saskatoon Quakers of the WHL in the 1953-54 season and in 1954-55 coached Nelson Maple Leafs of the Western International League for two seasons. He took over as coach of the intermediate A Kenora Thistles in 1956, a position he held until resigning to join Flyers.

It's a Photo Finish In Irish Sweeps Derby

NAAS, Ireland — American-owned Tambourine II squeaked in front at the wire today to win the £68,000 Irish Sweeps Derby.

Ireland's Arctic Storm was second and American-owned Sebring was third in the race, a contest for 24 three-year-olds that also decided the prize winners in an Irish hospital sweepstakes.

Larkspur, the favorite, was fourth. Tambourine II's win earned £50,000 for the owner, Mrs. Howell Jackson of Middleburg, Va. The French-trained horse was a short head in front of Arctic Storm at the finish. Sebring was about five lengths back.

It looked like Tambourine II was the winner but a photo finish was called and the 50,000 fans at The Curragh had to hold their breaths until the official result was announced.

Ridden by French jockey Roger Poincellet, Tambourine II took the lead with about three furlongs to go after the early leaders, Gail Star and Saint Denys, had faded.

Mrs. E. M. Carroll's Arctic Storm gave Tambourine II a dandy battle in the stretch of the 1 1/4-mile contest. But Poincellet, winner last year of both the French and English Derbies, got a final effort out of Tambourine II and held the lead across the finish.

Larkspur was favored in the race after taking the English Derby at Epsom this month. Sebring is owned by Townsend Martin of Locust, N.J.

The track was fast and the weather muggy. The battle between Tambourine II and Arctic Storm in the run for the wire brought crowd up shouting. They were almost even through the early part of the stretch. Then Tambourine II made a move on the outside. Arctic Storm gave it everything, but couldn't keep up with Tambourine II.

The Irish Derby used to be just another horse race. But burly, cigar-smoking Joe McGrath, who helped the Irish sweepstakes in 1930, conceived the idea of building The Curragh chase into an event to rival the counterpart Derby at Epsom, Chantilly, France, and Louisville, Ky.

The organizers tossed $30,000 into the pot, raising total purse money to £68,000, richest prize in Europe for a race confined to three-year-olds.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ 2 ♥
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠
Opening lead—six of clubs.

Comparatively few deals played in team of four style wind up in the same contract and with the same result, even though the identical cards are held at each table. There seem to be always surprises in store, even with the most prosaic hands. Apparently, the imagination of man knoweth no bounds.

This hand occurred in a team match. At the first table, South, a player inclined to open hands with a club despite the presence of a more biddable suit, followed his inclination in this deal. The bidding then proceeded as shown in the diagram. West was so delighted with the final contract of three clubs that he forgot to double.

The outcome was that South missed by four tricks for a loss of 400 points.

When his teammates played the hand at the other table (holding the East-West cards), the bidding followed this peculiar course:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 ♠	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Dble	5 ♠	Dble	—

North-South were playing weak notrumps (13 to 15 points). East's cuebid in diamonds was rather exuberant under the circumstances, though it is true he had a good hand. A double of two diamonds would have been more sensible, and East probably would have ended at three hearts undoubled, for down one or two, if he had done this.

Sick Tribe Discovered

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (Reuters)—Explorer Heinrich Harrer said that he has found two villages in the rugged central New Guinea highlands where the villagers were so sick they could hardly raise their heads to look at the first white men they had ever seen.

Harrer, an Australian who just completed the first recorded trip from the central highlands to the south coast, about 200 miles away, said that in the villages the natives sat around listlessly, thin, lifeless and grey-looking despite their naturally dark coloring.

"There was nothing we could do," he added.

Harrer and his companion, Gerhardt von der Weegen from the Dutch administration's mining department, and their native carriers had to hack their way through jungle so thick that they travelled only a mile or two daily.

YOUR HOROSCOPE.

FOR TOMORROW
Another good day where personal relationships are concerned! Especially favored: outdoor pursuits, recreation generally, and romance. Planetary influences are especially generous to home and family affairs.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that your personal relationships will be unusually harmonious for the next year, and that new ventures affecting future security could well be launched in September. Avoid friction with associates in early December, however, or you might lose out on a good opportunity which could get you off to a good start in 1963.

You may be rewarded for your handling of an unusual responsibility in November and, by late December, you should realize the fulfillment of an important monetary goal. July, November and January will be fine for romance and travel, and you can expect some excellent news of a business nature in February.

A child born on this day will be highly impressionable and, unless careful, could become morbidly superstitious.

THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW
Good planetary influences will continue on Monday. While you will not accomplish anything in the way of the dramatic, steady efforts will bring the type of success that's slow but sure—and, therefore, the most enduring.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If Monday is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, even though you may not have attained all the goals you set for yourself during the first half of 1962, present influences show a definite upward trend, so that you should be able to make fine headway job-wise, beginning now. Be alert to all opportunities, and emphasize your best traits as of this day. Future progress depends on present efforts.

Although you will have some good monetary periods in September, late November and late December, it would be well to check your budget and generally re-evaluate your financial position in next March. In this way, you can avoid possible difficulties in the future and keep job and monetary progress on a par.

Romance and travel will be favored during the current month and in November; also next May; and domestic matters will be generally harmonious throughout the year.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a good mind and high ambitions, but will have to curb tendencies toward stress and anxiety.

This Is A Really Big Job For Construction Men

OTTAWA (CP)—Underground building housing the construction crews near the RCAF's most modern communications and missile control centre.

North Bay, Ont., Bomarc missile base are putting the finishing touches on a $375,000,000 electronic system designed to become one of the keys of North American air defence.

Deep inside North Bay's rocky Reservoir. Hill contractors are aiming at a fall deadline to complete general construction of the SAGE (Semi-Automatic Ground Environment) system to control Bomarc flights and interceptions.

It is expected to become operational in 1963 following installation of equipment, air force sources here say.

Canada's share of the cost of the North Bay complex—which will also control the Bomarc base being built at La Macaza, Que. about 80 miles north of Ottawa—is estimated at $116,000,000.

ALL UNDERGROUND

Since July, 1959, when hard-rock miners began excavation with diamond drills, SAGE has become one of the world's largest military underground installations. Similar electronic systems in the United States are above ground.

"In building this combat centre we are pioneering in the field of protective construction," said Air Commodore R. B. Whiting, the RCAF's chief of construction engineering.

Construction, now 80 per cent completed, included blasting more than 750 tons of explosive to carve out cathedral-sized caverns and subterranean passageways. Two tunnels connect the underground site with RCAF station North Bay and Reservoir Hill.

The finished SAGE project will see a three-storey under-

KANGAROOAPPERS CREATE MYSTERY

DETROIT (AP) — The three-foot tall, 30-pound animal that hopped into 'ds appliance store Wednesday looked like a large rabbit, but Peter Gefkos quickly realized he had a kangaroo on his hands.

Authorities at the Belle Isle children's zoo on the Detroit River were missing a six-month-old female kangaroo named Hopalong Joey. Gefkos was advised to handle Joey gently.

He fed her carrots and celery but when he tried to move her, Joey reacted with a kangaroo right hook. Fortunately, it missed.

Nobody knew how the kangaroo had hopped 13 miles from the zoo to Gefkos' store through metropolitan traffic.

Zoo director Frank McInnis figured Joey had been kidnapped overnight from her high-walled corral and the "kangarooappers" had abandoned her near Gefkos' store.

town of 3,000 people and to pump in tens of thousands of cubic feet of fresh air every hour. Another chamber is a reservoir, holding approximately 5,000,000 gallons of water, for cooling the installation.

Using radar, radio and digital computers as their ears and eyes, RCAF personnel will be able to control not only the Bomarc missiles but also manned interceptors which would be called into action against enemy attack.

At present in Canada, the control radar still is manually operated, requiring eight or nine minutes for a human to plot a course for an interceptor. SAGE, basically a high-powered computer, will handle the process in a fraction of the time. Canada's newest jet interceptor, the Voodoo, is equipped with a "data-link," which enables SAGE to transmit orders to a pilot without the need for a human intermediary.

Where Does Money Go?

OTTAWA (CP) — The price tag of an RCAF North Star when the transport plane first went into service was $850,000.

The cost of a Yukon, the transport replacing the North Star, is $6,274,000.

The hourly operating cost of a North Star is $243. The hourly operating cost of a Yukon is $761.

Such comparative figures show, officials say, the difficulties the defence department is having in trying to reduce expenditures as ordered by the government. The cost of equipment, spares and labor goes up about five per cent a year.

Here are some other cost figures for the RCAF, the biggest spending branch of the armed forces:

The Argus anti-submarine plane cost $4,129,000 compared with $376,000 for the Second World War Lancaster which later served a similar purpose. The Cosmopolitan transport plane cost $1,975,000 against $165,000 for the Dakota which it replaced.

Soviet Courts Play Part In Anti-Religious Drive

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Soviet courts now are playing their part in the government's campaign against religion, particularly evangelical sects.

The general campaign for the souls of Soviet citizens who still believe in God is a daily feature of life here.

But of late the Soviet propaganda machine has intensified its activities and its main target has become sects—Seventh-day Adventists, Pentacostals, Jehovah's Witnesses and even Baptists.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, showed the way the wind was blowing last week when it reported a trial of five Pentacostals in Kharkov, the second-largest city in the Ukraine.

The head of the sect was jailed for five years with five years exile when he came out of prison. Four other members were sentenced to a total of nine years in jail.

SECTS ILLEGAL

Unlike the Russian Orthodox church the sectarians are illegal. But what section of the Soviet law they were tried on was not clear from the report. Pravda merely said the trial showed that the Pentacostals had "brought harm to people's health and encroached on their rights."

It is known, however, that some of the sects stubbornly follow teachings which irk Soviet authorities. Some teach children to refuse to sing Communist songs or join the Pioneers, the country's youth movement.

Others encourage teenagers to avoid conscription into the army which is mandatory for every Soviet citizen. The Adventists are reported to forbid their members to work on Saturday.

Izvestia, the Soviet government newspaper edited by Alexei Adzhubel, son-in-law of Premier Khrushchev, also condemned sectarians last week.

Gerry Thompkins On Agreement With Alouettes

BUFFALO, N.Y. (CP)—Quarterback Gerry Thompkins, a holdout in the last few weeks, has reached agreement with Montreal Alouettes on terms for his 1962 contract. It was disclosed Friday night by Perry Moss, coach of the Eastern Football Conference member.

"We both gave a little," said Moss, here for the All-American Bowl game in which Montreal recruits Sandy Stephens and Bobby Lee Thompson participated.

Moss did not disclose details of the agreement.

Halfback George Dixon and corner linebacker Ron Brewer are still unsigned, but both plan to do so during the weekend.

Meanwhile four players have said they are not interested in returning to the club this season. They are guard Mike Kovac, tackle John Raulick, flanker Meco Poliziani and defensive halfback Ed Learn.

of Canada Dominion Day list of honors and awards.

Awarded Silver Crosses—the scouts' second highest award for gallantry with considerable risk—are scout Charles Shannon, 17, of Holyrope, Ont., and cub Kenneth Edward Stubbs, 9, of Duncan, B.C.

Seven scouting officials from across Canada received Silver Acorns for a specially distinguished service. Three scouts and a cub got certificates of meritorious awards and another 15 adults received medals of merit for good services.

Charles Shannon received his Silver Cross for his part in rescuing a mother scout from drowning in the Black River during a scouting exercise. Scout leader H. L. Lawson was unable single-handedly to pull the scout from the river because of a strong undercurrent.

His call for help was answered quickly by the 17-year-old scout and between them they were able to bring the scout to shore.

HONORED FOR RESCUE

Kenneth Stubbs was honored for quick thinking and the presence of mind he displayed in saving the life of Gordon Gamble who had fallen into the icy waters of Somers Lake.

Young Stubbs endangered his own life in pulling Gamble to shore, his citation said.

Among those honored for long distinguished service to scouting were Maj. Charles H. Pitt, Vernon, B.C.; Brig. W. G. H. Roaf, Vancouver; Francis J. Bower, Smithers, B.C., and George W. Reed, Winnipeg.

Among those receiving certificates of meritorious conduct were scout Robert Leslie Brunelle, 12, of Regina, whose quick action saved the lives of two youngsters who were drifting in a boat on Three Mile Lake, and scout Larry Allan Cryderman, 12, of Stony Creek, Alta., who pulled Jimmy Weatherby from Lake Ontario and then had the presence of mind to apply artificial respiration.

Receiving medals of merit were Mrs. Jessie E. Bell, cubmaster, Vancouver; Eileen E. Campbell, assistant regional commissioner of ladies auxiliaries, Edmonton; Mrs. Tillie Rasmussen, cubmaster, Climax, Sask.; Robert Gordon Stark, commissioner of Coronation district, Edmonton; Walter Gordon Lawrence Twigg, scoutmaster, Edmonton, and C. Gordon Wood, chairman of the Vancouver group committee.

GOLDEN HORSE - - - - By Alan Maver

UP TO 1962
ONLY 3 HORSES PASSED THE
MILLION MARK:
CITATION
$1,085,760.

BUT CARRY BACK,
THE WAGON-SIDE-OF-THE-TRACKS HORSE,
BECAME THE 4TH WHEN HIS VICTORY IN THE METROPOLITAN MILE PUT HIM OVER THE MILLION MARK.

NOW HE COULD BECOME THE 5TH EVER TO EXCEED THE 1,000,000 MARK BY WINNING THE CARRY BACK (JULY 27).
